

Objective and scope

This document aims to express both parties' willingness to promote the TeaMLit network and its activities to develop and expand relationships with all interested parties in providing guidance, resources, and support for European teacher educators and trainers in Media literacy.

This document sets out the basis on which any personal data We collect from you or that you provide will be processed by Us. Please read the following carefully to understand Our views and practices regarding your data and how We will treat it. Also, you can find your rights and duties as a member of the TeaMLit network.

We may collect the following information from you

The information you give Us may include your first name, last name, email address, phone number, name of your organization, and other registration information and any comments and materials (e.g., texts, programs, photos, and images) you may have shared.

Purposes we use the information we collect

For Contacting You, with your consent, provided that you submit your contact form and your acceptance of the terms of use of the Network and this policy.

Use and exchange of information

The Network respects your right to the protection of your privacy and information about you and therefore uses the data collected through for the above purposes. We will not sell, distribute, lease or transfer in any way your personal information to third parties unless we have your explicit permission or are required by law to do so.

We may disclose information about you to investigate, prevent, or take action in connection with unlawful activity, if any suspicion of illegal conduct or criminal activity infringes upon the rights and legitimate interests of any natural or legal person in the event of a violation of our Website Terms of Use or if required by law, and in other cases where we deem it in good faith that disclosure of the information is necessary.

We may disclose information about you in response to court summons, search warrants, litigation, court orders, legal proceedings, or other law enforcement measures by any competent authority, including the Data Protection Authority and the Data Protection Supervisors of other States members of the European Union, and to enforce and defend our legal rights or to refute claims against us.

Information retention time

The Network shall keep the personal data it collects for the period strictly necessary to fulfill the above processing purposes and to comply with its legal obligations by the requirements of the law. If you withdraw your consent to the collection and processing of your personal data, we will delete your data from our electronic and physical files unless compliance with this law is required to comply with our legal obligation under the above or for the exercise, foundation or defend our rights or legal interests before judicial or other authorities.

Information security

The security of your data is our absolute commitment. To achieve this, we apply all appropriate technical and organizational measures for processing, the responsiveness and adequacy of which we check at regular intervals, such as your legal rights.

The following rights may be exercised where appropriate:

the right of access to find out what data we process, for what purpose, and to whom we send them, the right of correction, to correct any deficiencies or inaccuracies in your data, the right to be forgotten, to delete your data from our archives, but only if the processing is no longer necessary or your data is no longer required to comply with our legal obligations or to defend our legal interests before the Courts, the right to limit processing in case your data is inaccurate, the right to portability.

Questions, comments and requests regarding this Privacy Policy are welcomed and should be addressed to teamlitnetwork@media-and-learning.eu.

Overview

The Network is committed to ensuring that your privacy is protected in compliance with the General Data Protection Regulation (EU) 2016/679 (GDPR). In cases where we ask you to provide certain information by which you can be identified you can be assured that it will only be used in accordance with this privacy statement.